Free and open to the public

WALLACH ART GALLERY FAMILY AFTERNOON

Lenfest Center for the Arts
615 W. 129th St., Small Square
Rain location: The Forum, 125th Street and Broadway
1:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Work with artists' tools of the trade to design and decorate tote bags. All are welcome. Email wag\_programs@columbia.edu for more info.

MAD SCIENCE MOVIE DAY

Lenfest Center for the Arts
615 W. 129th St.
Noon to 6:00 pm

In the family-friendly sci-fi classic The Absent-Minded Professor, a harried professor invents an anti-gravity substance coveted by a greedy businessman and hilarity ensues (noon). The 1997 reboot, Flubber, follows at 3:00 pm.

Beginning at noon and running until 6:00 pm in the lobby, watch the immersive, virtual reality short films Collisions and Awavena. Based on true stories, Collisions tells of Australian indigenous elder Nyarri Morgan's first encounter with Western culture, while Awavena chronicles the induction of the first woman shaman of the Amazonian Yawanawa people into their spiritual traditions.

Registration recommended.

SATURDAY SCIENCE: MAD SCIENCE

Jerome L. Greene Science Center
609 W. 129th St.
1:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Hold a real brain, create cells that light up, and operate a laboratory-grade microscope and virtual reality devices. Registration required. Email programs@zi.columbia.edu for more info.

SLIME TIME

The Forum, 125th Street and Broadway
1:00 pm to 4:00 pm

This popular obsession of tweens and teens all over the world also has wellness benefits. Join us to learn about the brain science behind why slime is all the rage. Sponsored by Columbia's Community Wellness Center.
