

DUAL CAREER RESOURCES

Supporting You and Your Partner

HERC
JOBS

We understand that career decisions are family decisions, and we are here to support both the candidate and their partner during this process.

Access these dual career resources on HERC Jobs:

- Expert Dual Career Advice - Explore our comprehensive articles and resources that position you to successfully navigate the dual career process.
- Dual Career Search Tool - Find jobs that meet both you and your partner's search criteria. You can also select the distance between jobs.
- Custom Job Alerts - Create a free account, then turn your dual career search into a customized job alert so you never miss an opportunity.
- Regional Networks - Connect with local institutions through our regional HERCs to discover dual career opportunities and support in your area.
- Institutions with Dual Career Programs - Learn about institutions with programs to find which ones best support your situation.
- Career Tips and Tools - Check out our free ebooks, articles, and webinars to get advice on preparing your resume/CV and presenting yourself in interviews.

Scan to Explore
Dual Career
Resources

As part of our collective commitment to your success, all faculty and staff of our member institutions have access to on-demand learning, regional and national networks, inclusive workplace tools, and research on the higher education workforce.

About HERC

The Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC) is a nonprofit network of colleges, universities, and affiliated organizations advancing inclusive recruitment and workplace practices in higher education. Our mission: to strengthen institutions and better serve our communities through outreach, tools, and connections. HERC helps job seekers find, apply for, and succeed in higher education careers through its website, HERC Jobs. Learn more at www.hercjobs.org.